Zooming into Focus

Alissa Brooke,
Principal Investigator
Research Study 2

“It is unfair and unreasonable for us to pigeonhole people with IDD into jobs like that (Janitorial/Food Service), ‘this is your disability, you should be doing this type of work.’ So we’re really intentional, and I think we do a great job here, about making sure that we are figuring out who the person is that we’re supporting, what they want to do, and trying to make a match in that regard. So we can be creative... it doesn’t just have to be those typical jobs.”
